

Anita Goodesign - In the Hoop Designs

Welcome to our second collection of cards, All Occasion Cards. The first collection which came out in July was called Christmas Cards, after that was released we received dozens of requests for more cards! We set our artist to work to create cards for other occasions like weddings, valentines, St Patrick's Day, and many others. When we created these designs we wanted to make the cards as easy as possible to create. The collection consists of 16 different full designs for cards and 15 different design elements for you to create your own arrangements. The full cards include a template stitch that will allow you to successfully place your card in the hoop. We also include 2 versions of each of the full cards. The second version is a smaller embroidery for smaller cards. The cards were purchased online (information on the blank cards is on the following pages). The following tutorial will teach you everything you need to know to create embroidered cards

All Occasion Cards

The cards we used for this project were all purchased online. The brands we used are shown below. A quick web search will show you dozens of companies that sell these cards. There are different types available, standard as well as single sided. There are also lots of different colors of edging and of the cards themselves. Try to purchase cards that are as close as possible to 5" x 7", they will work the best with the designs included here.

The first step in creating a paper card is to choose the right type of card. You want to use a card made out of thick paper that is commonly called card-stock. You can create your own cards out of card stock or order blank cards online. This project uses a card that is 5"x7" so if you are making your own you need to cut your paper 10"x7".

The first step is to hoop a piece of tear-away stabilizer

Once the placement stitch is finished remove the hoop from the machine. Lightly spray the center of the area with adhesive or use a glue stick.

Note:

You can also use 2 sided tape to secure the card to the stabilizer. We created this tutorial during the first card we created. Further experimentation found that 2 sided tape works just as well and you do not need to worry about glue seeping through the paper.

The next step is to place the card in the placement area. Obviously you want to place the card down so that the cover is in the box.

The back of the card should be placed toward the embroidery arm. This will allow the back of the card to stay out of the way while embroidering.

The next step is to embroider the card. If you placed the card down correctly it should be perfectly centered. Because of the nature of embroidering on paper you may have instances when the thread doesn't catch after a trim. This is a common problem. Simply back the machine up a few stitches and restart.

This is what the design should look like so far.

Carefully remove the hoop from the machine and remove the excess stabilizer from the edges.

You can cover up the back of the embroidery with a piece of colored card stock or fabric. Simply cut the cardstock to size.

And glue it place. You can glue the lining in place with either a glue stick or two-sided tape.

Your card is finished.

All Occasion Cards

You can line the full inside of the card for a more deluxe effect. If you do this it won't look like you are just covering the back of the embroidery.

Lay down the finished card with the excess stabilizer removed face down on your work table.

Cut a piece of cardstock or scrapbook paper so that it is 1/4" smaller than the card on all sides and carefully fold it in half.

Use two-sided tape to secure the paper in place and you are finished!

All Occasion Cards

Each of the full cards come in two versions, the standard version will cover the full face of a 5" x 7" card with embroidery. The secondary version, which ends with a "b" has a smaller embroidery. You can use this design for small cards. The placement stitch is still the same size, so if you are using a small card you will need to center the card within the placement stitch for proper placement.
