Changes in the Auto Care database may impact your fitment. If you don't regularly upkeep your data as the database is updated, your fitment on the Amazon Part Finder will drop over time – making it harder for your customers to find your parts. We highly recommend maintaining regular updates to your data. Traditionally, fitment data has always been relied on in the North American automotive aftermarket to look up auto parts on the now rather dated 'green screens' of parts counters. The amount of data that can be looked up is actually quite limited. Since the advent of the internet however, the way replacement parts are sold has undergone a
